For HDG, offers from integrated suppliers were heard at €740-750 per tonne ex-works, but transactions were reported at lower prices — €720-730 per tonne ex-works, and even €710 per tonne ex-works for bigger lots.

“The slide in CRC and HDG prices is mainly caused by a weak auto market, and further developments will depend on how the market restarts after the holidays,” a second buyer said.

Fastmarkets’ weekly price assessment for steel hot-dipped galvanized coil domestic, exw Northern Europe was €720-730 per tonne on Wednesday, down by €10-20 per tonne from €730-750 per tonne on July 24.

No major progress was reported in negotiations for long-term contracts with original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) in the automotive industry for the second half of 2024, sources said.

“It looks like no consensus has been reached [for long-term contracts] yet, but at the same time, that’s why mills don’t want to drop spot prices more,” a second buyer in the Benelux area said.

For the first half of 2024, HDG contracts with OEMs in the automotive industry have reportedly been signed for around €900 per tonne. For the second half-year, OEMs were seeking major discounts of around €100 per tonne, while steelmakers were aiming for a rollover.

“€900 per tonne [for HDG] is no longer possible, but it’s unlikely that mills would step down by €100 per tonne. So, the most possible scenario is that [mills and OEMs] agree somewhere in between,” a third buyer said.

Imports

Overseas HDG offers to Europe were rare, with few suppliers active in the market, sources told Fastmarkets.

Vietnamese suppliers of 0.5 mm HDG with Z120 coating were said to be aiming for $820 per tonne, while Indian mills were heard offering 2 mm HDG with Z140 coating at €740-755 per tonne. Both offers were on a CFR basis to Southern Europe, Fastmarkets understands.

CRC offers from Taiwan, India and South Korea were heard at €665-680 per tonne CFR to Antwerp.

CRC from Ukraine was heard offered to southern Europe at €660 per tonne CFR.

Chinese HRC prices narrow upward after futures rally

By Zihuan Pan - Wednesday 31 July

Chinese hot-rolled coil prices narrowed upward on Wednesday July 31, in the wake of a rally in futures prices for the flat steel product.

Domestic

Fastmarkets’ price assessment for steel HRC domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,420-3,440 yuan ($472-474) per tonne on Wednesday, narrowing upward by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,410-3,440 yuan per tonne on Tuesday.

Spot HRC prices narrowed upward after futures prices for the flat steel product rallied amid profit-booking by shorts and a substantial rebound in the stock market.

The most-traded HRC contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange (SHFE) rose to an intraday high of 3,515 yuan per tonne during morning trading on Wednesday after slipping to the lowest level since May 2020 at 3,436 yuan per tonne during night trading on Tuesday.

Shorts took profits after the previous price decline, leading to the rally in SHFE HRC prices on Wednesday, sources told Fastmarkets.

A sharp rally in the stock market also helped boost sentiment across the steel market, sources added.

The Shanghai Stock Exchange Composite Index jumped by more than 2% to end at 2,938.75 on Wednesday.

Export

Fastmarkets calculated its steel HRC index export, fob main port China at $495 per tonne on Wednesday, unchanged from Tuesday.

Chinese HRC export prices held stable after domestic spot and SHFE prices stemmed their decline.

Small Chinese mills offered at $480-490 per tonne FOB China for SS400/Q235 and Q195 HRC of 3mm base, barely changed from levels heard on Tuesday.

Offers from larger mills came in at $495-520 per tonne FOB China for similar cargoes, while trader sources indicated that these large mills are likely willing to lower their offers to $490-500 per tonne FOB if there are firm orders.

Deals for SS400/Q235 HRC were heard concluded at $490 per tonne CFR Vietnam for 3mm thickness base on Tuesday, with freight rates from China to Vietnam at $12-14 per tonne, according to sources.

Market chatter

“Seasonally slow demand will likely keep [Chinese steel] prices subdued. The upside in prices in August will depend on the size of production cuts across Chinese mills after mill margins are thinned out by the recent losses in prices caused by the new rebar national standards,” an industry analyst in Shanghai said.

The latest industry data pointed to the continued sluggishness across China’s steel industry. The Purchasing Managers’ Index (PMI) for China’s steel sector dropped by 5.3 from the previous month to 42.5 in July, which marked the lowest level in about a year and remained in contractionary territory, according to the China Federation of Logistics & Purchasing, Steel Logistics Professional Committee.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded SHFE October HRC futures contract closed at 3,479 yuan per tonne on Wednesday, up by 31 yuan per tonne from Tuesday’s closing price of 3,448 yuan per tonne.

Global zinc premiums unchanged; TCs hit record low

By Shiyue Zhao, Natasha Porter, Rae Boyadjis - Wednesday 31 July

Zinc premiums in Shanghai, Europe and the United States were unchanged during the week to Tuesday July 30 due to continued weak demand and summer doldrums, though import arbitrage terms slightly improved in Shanghai.

Meanwhile, treatment charges (TCs) reached a new record low since Fastmarkets' price launch in 2014.

Shanghai

Fastmarkets assessed the zinc SHG min 99.995% ingot premium, cif Shanghai at $90-120 per tonne on Tuesday July 30, flat since March 19.

The corresponding zinc min 99.995% ingot premium, in-whs Shanghai stood at $100-120 per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged since January 30 this year.

Import arbitrage terms slightly improved from a week earlier, with sporadic deals heard, but overall liquidity remained thin.

Offers came in high for bonded duty-free Australian units at $120-130 per tonne, and the deal was heard concluded at nearly $120 per tonne, within the current price range assessed by Fastmarkets.

Fastmarkets' zinc import arbitrage calculation stood at a loss of $68.54 per tonne on Tuesday, in comparison to a loss of $75.37 per tonne a week earlier.

China's domestic zinc market continues to see bearishness in demand during the summer lull. The galvanized metal's price has found some support from the tightness in raw materials, however, due to Chinese smelters being forced to cut production or conduct care and maintenance since the second quarter on record-low TCs.

Fastmarkets' twice-monthly assessment of the zinc spot concentrate TC, cif China dropped to $(20)-5 per tonne on Friday July 26, from $(10)-10 per tonne on July 12 and reaching a new lowest point since Fastmarkets launched this assessment in September 2014.

Zinc stocks at Shanghai Futures Exchange-registered warehouses totaled 113,978 tonnes on July 26, down by 6,076 tonnes, or 5.06%, from 120,054 tonnes a week prior.

Europe

Fastmarkets' weekly assessments of the zinc SHG min 99.995% ingot premium, dp fca Rotterdam and the zinc SHG min 99.995% ingot premium, dp fca Antwerp were both $200-210 per tonne on Tuesday July 30, unchanged from the previous session.

Market participants reported a stable market, with muted liquidity due to the summer lull.

Sources continued to report weak demand in Europe.

"There is no sign of demand recovery," a consumer told Fastmarkets.

"The little hope [we had] earlier this year has completely melted away," a trader told Fastmarkets.

"Hopefully we will see better moods in [the] autumn, but for now we have the slow summer period until September," the trader added.

Participants remain concerned about tightness in the concentrates market, which has led to plummeting TCs.

"With TCs being so low, there is not a lot of incentive [for smelters] to produce," the consumer source said.

Some participants noted a slight increase in inquiries due to falling zinc prices on the London Metal Exchange.

The three-month LME zinc price closed at $2,629 per tonne on Tuesday, down by 10.2% from $2,929 per tonne at the beginning of July.

United States

The zinc special high grade (SHG) min 99.995% ingot premium, ddp Midwest US was flat at 16-19 cents per lb on Tuesday, unchanged since April 16.

Inputs were collected in a range of 15-20 cents per lb. Some market participants heard of more outlier deals on both the high and low ends of the range and said the premium may move in either direction after the end of summer.

They continued to assess the current market at 16-19 cents per lb, however.

"The problem we are hearing is that there are more outlier deals going on," one seller told Fastmarkets, adding that while some deals are being heard around 15 cents per lb, which may cause participants to believe the market is trending down, they are also seeing firsthand deals as high as 20 cents per lb for delivered tonnes and as low as 16 cents per lb.

"But when you pool all the visible deals, the number is right in the middle of that 16-19 [cents per lb] range," the seller said. "So, we are calling the
