"We have a lot of investments in-flight, including manufacturing and battery capacity in Tennessee, battery capacity in Kentucky and Michigan and manufacturing capacity in Ohio."

Tariff exposure

Chief financial officer Sherry House provided more details about Ford's tariff exposure.

The estimated $2.5 billion exposure to tariffs is divided roughly in half between parts and imported vehicles.

The exposure to parts is exclusive of steel and aluminium, according to the CFO.

"In fact, 85% of our steel is already purchased domestically in the US, and all of our sheet aluminium," House said.

Over 50% of Ford's exposure to tariffs on auto parts is already hedged, with the remaining exposure on the export of powertrains to Ford's operations in China.

The exposure to tariffs is mitigated by US President Donald Trump's recent order providing 3.75% offsets against Ford's exposure for up to 15% of the value of vehicles assembled in the US for one year starting on May 3.

The offset will fall to 2.5% from May 1, 2026, to April 30, 2027, for up to 10% of the value of vehicles assembled in the US.

Galhotra said Ford has taken other steps to reduce its tariff exposure.

"Vehicles shipped to Canada from Mexico via the US are now transported on bonded carriers, so they aren't subject to US tariffs. We've done the same for parts that merely pass through the United States," the COO said.

Earnings

Ford reported net revenue of $40.7 billion in the first quarter, with a net income of $471 million and adjusted earnings before interest and taxes (EBIT) of $1 billion.

"We had our best first-quarter US pickup sales in over 20 years and we delivered sequential share growth in our home market," Farley said.

Steel plate news

US domestic plate prices decline amid continued market uncertainty, soft demand

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 06 May

Plate prices in the US fell on Tuesday May 6, with sources reporting sluggish demand amid continued buyer hesitancy in the domestic plate market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $57 per hundredweight ($1,140 per short ton) on Tuesday, down by 1.72% from $58 per cwt on April 29.

Inputs were collected in a range of $56-58 per cwt, representing deals and assessments of the general spot market.

The domestic plate market is muted, with most sources depicting middling demand amid ongoing economic uncertainty.

"Our demand is flat to soft here," a service center distributor said. "All is quiet on the plate side."

A second distributor said tepid demand is expected to persist into the summer months, with a possible uptick predicted in the second half of the year.

"Service centers seem to be getting more aggressive and lowering [plate] prices in some cases," the second distributor said. "Plate mill order books [are] subdued from a service center level, [and] this is coupled with scrap prices falling [last month]."

The second distributor continued, saying, "[The plate market is] on the slower side if you ask me. It's not dead, but [demand is] far from being considered good. [It is] feeling like it will be a grind for the next couple of months."

Lead times remain at four to five weeks, sources said.

Rebar news

UAE rebar prices decrease following raw material price falls

By Serife Durmus - Tuesday 06 May

Steel rebar prices in the United Arab Emirates decreased during the week ended Tuesday May 6 following lower raw material prices, sources told Fastmarkets.

Local scrap prices decreased in the country during April.

Fastmarkets' steel scrap sheared HMS 1&2 (80:20 mix), index, domestic, delivered UAE was 1,209.44 dirhams ($329.31) per tonne on May 6, compared with 1,234.38 dirhams per tonne on April 1.

The country's biggest rebar producer, Emirates Steel (Emsteel), rolled over its rebar price for May orders.

Billet imports

China-origin billet was offered at $465 per tonne CFR, narrowing down from the offers at $465-471 per tonne CFR received last week.

Billet importers preferred to wait and see the direction of prices.

No major deals were heard.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel billet import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $465-468 per tonne on May 6, unchanged week on week.

Rebar imports

Oman-origin rebar was sold at $607-610 per tonne CPT during the past seven days, at prices lower than the previous deals at $610-611 per tonne CFR.

One source said there was a deal at $593 per tonne CPT, but it was not included in the assessment because the price was not corroborated by other market participants.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE on a theoretical-weight basis was $607-610 per tonne on May 6, falling from $610-611 per tonne on April 29.

Domestic rebar

Emsteel sold rebar at 2,370-2,380 dirhams per tonne ex-works during the past seven days, and re-rollers in the country sold rebar at 2,180-2,200 dirhams per tonne ex-works.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, exw UAE was 2,180-2,380 dirhams per tonne on May 6, falling from 2,210-2,400 dirhams per tonne on April 29.
