Offers for 3.0mm-thick SS400 HRC from small mills in northern China were $547-550 per tonne FOB China on Tuesday, narrowing upward from $543-550 per tonne FOB on Monday, according to market participants.

The gains in SHFE and domestic HRC prices and a stronger yuan pulled export prices higher, while overseas buyers kept their price expectations stable, traders said.

Large mills, meanwhile, kept their offers for 3.0mm-thick SS400 HRC unchanged at $560-580 per tonne FOB China compared with a week earlier.

Market participants also maintained their estimates of best offers large mills could give unchanged at around $555 per tonne FOB China.

The central parity rate of the RMB, an indicator for the spot interbank foreign exchange market and the exchange rate quoted by banks, was 7.1986 against $1 on Tuesday, compared with Monday's 7.2148, according to China's State Administration of Foreign Exchange.

Market chatter

"How [steel] demand recovers [from the summer lull] in September remains the biggest factor to monitor [for the steel market]. If demand fails to meet expectations, mills are likely to reduce their output amid thin margins, which will weigh on raw materials prices and pull steel prices lower," a second industry analyst in eastern China said.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded January HRC futures contract closed at 3,882 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, up by 31 yuan per tonne from Monday's close of 3,851 yuan per tonne.

Essar Steel signs deal to develop renewable energy for Saudi green steel project

By Serife Durmus - Tuesday 12 September

Integrated steelmaker Essar Steel has signed an agreement with Desert Technologies to develop renewable energy solutions for its green steel project to be built in Saudi Arabia, it said on Tuesday September 12.

Desert Technologies is an independent holding company interested in photovoltaic (PV) solar power and smart infrastructure, Essar Steel said.

Essar had earlier signed a Letter of Intent (LoI) with Vale International, a wholly owned subsidiary of Brazil's Vale SA, for the supply of iron ore agglomerates comprising direct-reduction-grade pellets and briquettes. That was announced on September 7.

<https://dashboard.fastmarkets.com/a/5152451/vale-to-supply-iron-ore-agglomerates-to-essar-steels-saudi-arabia-project>

Before that, Essar Steel had signed another LoI with Bahrain Steel, on August 16, for the supply of 4 million tonnes per year of DR iron ore pellets. <https://dashboard.fastmarkets.com/a/5151005/bahrain-steel-to-supply-dr-pellet-to-saudi-arabias-first-green-steel-plant>

Essar's Saudi Arabia project is intended to be the first green steel initiative in the region. It will have capacity for 5 million tpy of direct-reduced iron (DRI), using two DRI modules, and with capacity for 4 million tpy of hot-strip steel and 1 million tpy of cold-rolled coil, along with galvanizing and tin-plating lines.

Essar Group, which has its roots in India, has commissioned Al Rajhi Bank (ARB), a leading Saudi Arabian bank, to assist in raising funds from a clutch of other local banks and financial institutions, including the Saudi Industrial Development Fund (SIDF), it said.

The group has also opened negotiations with European export credit agencies and some international banks to raise a portion of the funding required for the mega-steel project.

"The Group is also scouting for local partners for the project," Essar Steel said, "and is expected soon to commence talks with some of the leading funds, including sovereign funds and companies in the country, to offer a significant minority stake in the steel project."
