HRC prices flat in Europe; slow demand scuppers mill attempts to raise offers

By Julia Bolotova - Thursday 13 June

European prices for hot-rolled coil were stable on Thursday June 13 amid persistently quiet trading; with falling raw materials prices and flat demand dampening bullish sentiment among the steel mills, sources told Fastmarkets.

Fastmarkets calculated its daily steel hot-rolled coil index domestic, exw Northern Europe at €636.00 ($685.80) per tonne on Thursday, up by €0.79 per tonne from €635.21 per tonne on Wednesday.

The index was up by €2.25 per tonne week on week, but down by €4.00 per tonne month on month.

An integrated mill in the Benelux region was heard offering July-August delivery HRC at €650-660 per tonne ex-works.

In Germany, offers were heard at €640-650 per tonne delivered, which nets back to €630-640 per tonne ex-works for July-August delivery.

Buyers estimated achievable prices at €620-640 per tonne ex-works.

Domestic HRC prices in the region have been broadly flat for about a month now, with some minor fluctuations.

"For more than a month, the market situation has remained unchanged. Demand is low, [there is] no major restocking and mills are looking for orders," a steel service center source in Germany told Fastmarkets.

Other market participants said European producers had short order books and lead times of about five weeks - or even shorter in some cases.

Some producers in the region attempted to increase their offer prices following the news about proposed changes to EU import safeguards two weeks ago, but demand was not strong enough to support the price rebound. Besides, the recent downtrend in global iron ore prices was also unsupportive of the uptrend.

"There is no demand, they ask to the air," a trading source in Europe said.

Sources told Fastmarkets earlier this week they expect a major European steelmaker to come back to the market with higher prices by the end of this week, but there has been no official announcement as yet.

Fastmarkets calculated its daily steel hot-rolled coil index domestic, exw Italy Europe at €631.67 per tonne on Thursday, down by €0.21 per tonne from €631.88 per tonne on Wednesday.

The index was up by €1.15 per tonne week on week, but down by €3.33 per tonne month on month.

One local steelmaker was reportedly still offering HRC to the domestic market at €650 per tonne delivered (€640 per tonne ex-works).

And the tradable price were estimated by one market participant at €620 per tonne CPT (€610 per tonne ex-works) - although this was not widely confirmed by other sources.

Most buyers, meanwhile, put the workable level at €630 per tonne ex-works on Thursday.

"With current levels of demand [for flat steel], the best option is for mills [to] rollover prices for leftover July- and August-delivery [HRC]," a buyer source said.

Import offers were broadly flat, with minimal buying interest in overseas coil - mainly due to the long lead times, similar prices to those in the domestic market and concerns over import quotas, Fastmarkets understands.

On Thursday, offers of Turkish HRC were heard at €610-630 per tonne CFR, including the EU anti-dumping duty.

Offer from South Korea were reported at €600-610 per tonne CFR on Thursday, but Indian mills refrained from making any offers to Europe, sources said.

Darina Kahramanova in Sofia contributed to this report

Rebar news

Chinese domestic rebar prices unchanged on steady demand

By Jessica Zong - Thursday 13 June

China's domestic rebar prices remained unchanged on Thursday June 13, with buyers continuing with regular procurement, while other market participants are taking a wait-and-see approach, Fastmarkets understands.

Domestic

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,470-3,490 yuan ($479-481) per tonne on Thursday, unchanged since Tuesday June 11.

Buyers maintained regular rebar purchases to meet daily demand on Thursday, with transactions completed at 3,470-3,490 yuan per tonne, sources said.

A trader in Shanghai said that most cargoes were sold at 3,470-3,480 yuan per tonne, but said some buyers were very concerned about the purchase cost of rebar.

Construction contracts are lower than in the past few years, a second trader in Shanghai told Fastmarkets, adding that because contractors need to lower their project quotations to win business, they have been pushing for lower rebar prices.

Buyers have no plans to build rebar inventories, sources said, because they would rather wait for prices to drop following Wednesday's 50-55 yuan per tonne decline in the price of steelmaking raw material coke.

But sellers were also taking a wait-and-see approach, albeit in the expectation that steel mills will reduce production rates, which would then act as support for rebar prices.

Market chatter

"Sales volume of rebar this week have been higher than the preceding week, which gives me some confidence about keeping rebar prices flat over the past few days," the first trader said.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China was 3,370 yuan per tonne including value-added tax on Thursday, the same as Wednesday.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded October rebar futures contract closed at 3,621 yuan per tonne on Thursday, up by 13 yuan per tonne from 3,608 yuan per tonne on Wednesday.

Prices mostly stable in Southern European long steel market

By India-Inés Levy - Thursday 13 June

Prices remained unchanged in the Southern European rebar and wire rod markets in the week to Wednesday June 12, sources told Fastmarkets.

The market accepted higher target prices in May, amid improved demand and high feedstock costs. And while demand continued to improve in early June, it has been subdued so far this week, sources said.

Fastmarkets price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, exw Italy was €660-675 ($712-728) per tonne on Wednesday, stable week-on-week.

"Mills have maintained the higher prices established at the end of May, but the market has been quiet [this week] as everyone has restocked," a producer source said.

And a trader told Fastmarkets: "Demand was good last week, but this week, the market seems to have gone to sleep again."

Despite the reduction in demand, high feedstock costs mean the steel mills cannot lower their offer prices, sources said.

"With the increase in scrap and energy costs in May, all producers are very aware that the price increases [achieved in May] must be defended at all costs," the producer source said.

International scrap prices have remained largely unchanged so far this week, with Fastmarkets' calculation of its daily index for steel scrap HMS 1&2 (80:20 mix) North Europe origin, cfr Turkey, edging up to $377.40 per tonne on Wednesday, up by just 55 cents from $376.85 per tonne a week earlier.

Fastmarkets' price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar), domestic, delivered, Spain was €645-670 per tonne on Wednesday, unchanged week on week.

Wire rod

Fastmarkets' price assessment for steel wire rod (mesh quality), domestic, delivered Southern Europe, was €625-640 per tonne on Wednesday widening up by €5 per tonne from €625-640 per tonne.

Market conditions remained mostly steady in the Southern European wire rod
