In the Midwest, the HRC market faced inflating mill offers alongside thinning availability in 2025 order books.

In the week ending Tuesday, Fastmarkets' daily steel hot-rolled coil index, fob mill US Midwest averaged at $43.14 per cwt, up by 1.79% from an average of $42.38 per cwt in the previous assessment period.

US Midwest HRC index breaks above $880 per ton on limited hot band supply

By Alesha Alkaff - Tuesday 11 November

Hot-rolled coil prices in the US Midwest increased on Tuesday November 11, with sources reporting increasingly full December order books and expectations of a strong first quarter of 2026.

Fastmarkets' daily steel hot-rolled coil index, fob mill US Midwest was calculated at $44.05 per hundredweight ($881 per short ton) on Tuesday November 11, up by 0.82% from $43.69 per cwt on Monday November 10 and by 3.94% from $42.38 per cwt a week earlier on November 4.

Inputs were collected in the range of $42-44 per cwt in the buyer sub-index, representing offers and assessments of the spot market.

Inputs were rolled over in the seller sub-index due to a lack of liquidity. An input was discarded due as it was deemed unrepresentative of current deals.

Heard in the market

Prices for hot band material in the Midwest are gaining momentum, with mills reportedly holding firm on elevated offers and buyers seeking to restock inventory in the first quarter of 2026.

The upward pressure on prices is supply-driven, rather than demand, sources said, expecting continued strength in the hot band market to close out the year.

With mills increasingly closing their order books for December, lead times are at a minimum of four weeks and have extended to January, sources said.

Quote of the day

"Buyers are just trying to latch on to any potential lower price to try and negotiate for something better than current offers from the mills right now," a buyer told Fastmarkets.

Launch of West HRC index, delivered Los Angeles: pricing notice

By Fastmarkets Pricing Team - Tuesday 11 November

Fastmarkets launched MB-STE- 0944 steel hot-rolled coil index, delivered Los Angeles, on Tuesday November 11, 2025.

After a consultation period, Fastmarkets has launched a West steel hot-rolled coil index, delivered Los Angeles, to accompany its steel Midwest and South HRC price indices.

The HRC market dynamics in the West region of the US are unique compared to those in the Midwest and South HRC, due to logistics, import flows, and mill proximity. Most of the market participants in the region purchase their steel from import markets or domestic mills in Midwest and South, facing longer lead times.

This price launch will broaden the coverage of the domestic hot-rolled coil market and add to the suite of prices Fastmarkets has in the US.

The specifications for the proposed index is as follows:

MB-STE-0944 Steel hot-rolled coil index, delivered Los Angeles, $/cwt
Quality: ASTM A1011 Commercial Steel and corresponding grades. 0.09-0.38in thick x 48-72in wide

Quantity: Min 50 short tons

Location: Delivered Los Angeles, Western region states as defined by the US Census Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii

Timing: Spot

Unit: USD per hundredweight

Payment terms: Delivered at place

Publication: Weekly, Tuesday 4-5pm ET

Notes: Standard packaging, raw materials surcharges included. Payment terms are typical commercial practice in the HRC market. Transactions that are conducted on different payment or credit terms will be adjusted back to the base specifications, taking into account discounts and standard commercial terms.

These prices will be a part of the Fastmarkets steel package.

Fastmarkets' index methodology screens outliers and applies a quantity-weighted model to ensure that the steel hot-rolled coil index, delivered Los Angeles is the most robust in the industry. Fastmarkets has no financial interest in the level or direction of the index.
