This was assessed based on Fastmarkets' fortnightly price assessment of flat steel reduced carbon emissions differential, exw China, which calculates the premium for flat-rolled reduced carbon emissions steel over products produced from the traditional blast furnace-based route and came in at 0-500 yuan per tonne on Friday October 24.

Market chatter

"Market sentiment has improved following the progress in US-China trade talks. That, coupled with resilient prices for [steelmaking] raw materials, would likely remain supportive of steel prices in the near term," a Chinese industry analyst said.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded SHFE January HRC futures contract closed at 3,305 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, up by 6 yuan per tonne from Monday's close of 3,299 yuan per tonne.

Rebar news

China's domestic rebar prices edge up driven by good demand

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 28 October

China's domestic rebar prices moved up slightly on Tuesday October 28 supported by strong demand and early hour price gains in the futures market.

Demand for rebar was similarly robust on Tuesday compared with the preceding day, with many transactions concluded among trade houses, which pushed up rebar prices slightly.

But contractors kept buying rebar at stable and limited tonnages because they were not bullish on rebar prices in the short term.

The early hour price rise in the futures market provided additional support for rebar prices, sources said.

The most-traded January rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange rose as high as 3,119 yuan ($439) per tonne during the night trading session on Monday October 27, up by 19 yuan per tonne from the day trading session's close price of 3,100 yuan per tonne.

A trader based in Shanghai raised his prices to 3,080 yuan per tonne on Tuesday from Monday's 3,070 yuan per tonne "encouraged" by the early hour increase in futures market.

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,080-3,100 per tonne on Tuesday, narrowed upward by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,070-3,100 yuan per tonne on Monday October 27.

Market Chatter

"Iron ore futures contract prices increased in Dalian Commodity Exchange over the past two days, triggering market participants concerns of negative profit margins at more steel mills. Some mills have reduced rebar output due to the loss of profit margins. The supply cut put some uptrend pressure on rebar prices," an industry analyst said.

The most-traded January iron ore futures contract on the DCE closed at 792.50 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, up by 21.50 yuan per tonne from 771 yuan per tonne on Friday October 24.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China was 2,980 yuan per tonne including value-added tax on Tuesday, up by 20 yuan per tonne from 2,960 yuan per tonne on Monday.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded January rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange closed at 3,091 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 9 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 3,100 yuan per tonne on Monday.
